Know no other world of sin and sorrow
But this I do know
That I never was so near to death as I am
Now because I am poor, because I am
Unhappy, or because I am black.

OUR POLICE FORCE'S RECORD.

Elsewhere in the columns of this paper will be found the statistics of the work of the North Adams police force for the first year, a short year of eleven months ending December 11, under city government. The record is itself praise enough for our new police force. No complimentary words are needed beyond the cold figures that show the activity of the police department under its new organization.

Special attention will be attracted by the work which our police have done in enforcing the liquor laws. It is a record of untiring and persistent effort to make the law respected with the result that today the liquor laws are most wholly respected in North Adams. A glance at the figures shows that 1,535 gallons of bonded liquor have been turned over to the state—an amount captured and legally disposed of second to no city in the commonwealth excepting Boston.

Thirty-six persons were arrested for illegal selling the past year as against three the year before—a significant fact. About 31,000 have been collected as fines for illegal selling. These figures are a guarantee of one year of police efficiency and a further guarantee that this year's record will be less.

The whole work of the police force has been of the same excellent quality as that shown in having done illegal liquor-selling. The standard is high, and back of it a sturdy, manly, harmonious, conscientious set of police officers. They are all united in the work of seeing that the law is respected and order maintained in the city, and North Adams is to be congratulated on the character of its new police force as shown by its first year's record.

THE FACTS ABOUT THE PLATE.

A review of the tin plate business in the United States by The Economist shows that in addition of the tin plate industry in the United States is a gratifying endorsement of the policy of protection.

The tin plate business is coming enough to be classed with the "tinny industries" which are the special wards of a protective tariff, but from appearances it is able to take care of itself under the existing conditions of trade. This is apparent from a perusal of The American Artist, which notes the facts that trade in tin plate is bright, that prices have gone up, and that manufacturers are at variance on the question of further protection.

Some expect a higher tariff on tin plate, while others do not expect any change in the rates. However, the reported unanimity of the manufacturers in the opinion that the United States seems to show that the tin plate manufacturers of the United States are getting along very well at present.

It is an important fact that as the amount of tin plate manufactured in the United States has increased, the use of foreign black plates has fallen off. The report for 1894 showed that of the total of 50,810,292 pounds of tin plate manufactured in the United States, 33,219,478 pounds were made of foreign black plate. The report made in June last shows that out of a total manufacture of 367,225,621 pounds, only 4,226,323 pounds were made of foreign black plates. This utterly destroys the free-trade claim that the tin industry in the United States would be simply a clogging business in which foreign plates would be coated with tin. As the manufacture of home-made tin plate has increased the importations from Wales have fallen off rapidly, as will be seen from the table. The importation in 1891 was 1,635,351,077 pounds; in 1892, 225,592 pounds; and in 1893, 235,131,133 pounds.

AMUSEMENTS.

Beautiful Costumes.

The costumes that will be worn on the appearance of Bertha Galland and George Edgar on Friday and Saturday evenings at the Columbia are of a most magnificent description. This position of the performance will be of more than usual interest to our literary readers. As Bertha Galland in Othello Miss Galland will wear a costume of old Roman gold and silver brocade with gold embroidery and the waist and sleeves studded with jewels. As Juliet her costume will be in the balcony scene a gown of white venetian lace and to be over 100 years old. In the Potho scene she wears a white silk and wrap of lace and Persian cloth.

As Lady Teazel in the School for Scandal she will appear in the costume of blue satin brocade with silver, with a picture hat of black velvet and also with plumes. In Lady Macbeth her dress is made of a fabric woven of silk hemp and steel, which was made to order in Scotland. Miss Galland is accompanied in her travels by her mother, who is an artist in oil painting, and who selected the most rare costumes worn by her daughter from plates and pictures in the most celebrated art galleries in Europe.

Relief Corps Officers.

At the annual meeting of the Women's Relief Corps Wednesday evening the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Harriet Eaton; junior vice-president, Mrs. Harriet Lee; treasurer, Mrs. Harriet Lee; chaplain, Mrs. Mary Reynolds; conductor, Miss Viva Hicks; guard, Miss Mary Fountain; first delegate, Mrs. Wm. Fisher; second delegate, Mrs. Louise Wyrig; first alternate delegate, Mrs. Carrie Hawks; second alternate delegate, Mrs. Louise Oaks. The secretary will be appointed later.

THE EDITOR'S SHEARS.

FOR TODAY.

Along the shores of night,
When Daisy drifts to dreamland
And the world is wrapped in rest,
There stealthy softening shadows,
Down the dusky, dark'ning west;
The stars hang high in heaven
And the moon is beaming bright,
When Daisy drifts to dreamland
Along the lazy shores of night.

First the fringes lashes lower
Till they're resting in repose
On the cherry cheeks a-dimple,
Where the rosy blossom blows;
The waxes are all away
And they bear the bark aright,
When Daisy drifts to dreamland
Along the lazy shores of night.

When the buds no longer blow,
The larks no longer sing,
And Nature's hand forgets to sow
The blossoms in the spring;
And moon and stars forbear to shine,
O then shall I repine.

But while the ruler of the year
My every want supplies,
And paints my life faint heart to cheer,
The rainbow in the sky;
Come what we will, or shower or shine,
O'er shall I repine.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

—The Congregational church steeple is being repaired by Fred Sanjume of this city.

—Superintendent of Streets Berry is storing up a supply of sand in the Hodgkins barn for use on the walks this winter.

—W. H. Lally & Co. have begun grading the road to the Braytonville school house. The grading of the grounds will be done in the spring.

—Miss Gertrude Clark, organist at the Congregational church, Wilmamstown, will play an organ solo at Mr. Roberts' pupils' recital December 11.

—The Artillery Campaign club will give a social and dance in their hall on State street Friday evening December 11. Clap's orchestra will furnish music.

—The Christmas reception of the Woman's Art exchange, will be held Friday from 1 to 10 o'clock p.m. at the store of W. H. and C. C. Peck, 20 Eagle street.

—M. Dorval, a lawyer from Canada, will speak before the Franco-American club at 12:30 o'clock Sunday, December 13. All members of the club are cordially invited to attend.

—Myrtle, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Niles of 303 East Main street, died Wednesday evening of diphtheria. The funeral will be held Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

—W. S. Underwood has at his warehouse on Holden street one of the celebrated "Crown" pianos, which by the use of attachments can be made to imitate sixteen different instruments.

—The rail table at the Baptist fair will be in charge of Mrs. M. W. Brown instead of Miss Brown, assisted by Miss Nellie Darling and Miss Amy Nichols. The book table will be in charge of Miss Mary Haswell.

—The exhibit and sale of decorated china, the work of Mrs. C. H. Turner and Miss Blanche Millard, will be held Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings, December 11 and 12, at Miss Millard's home, 9 Church street.

—The entertaining lecture on Mexico at the Congregational church Friday evening should not be forgotten. Miss Stacy is a delightful lecturer and in her many travels has gathered much highly interesting material for her travel talks.

—On Monday evening the young friends of Watson T. Hicks of 75 East Quincy street gave him a pleasant surprise. The evening was spent in playing games, interspersed with music and refreshments. At 10 o'clock the party went home wishing their young host many such joyous occasions.

—W. H. Lally & Co. will finish the abutments of one of the street railroad bridges on Union street by Saturday night, and the abutments for the other will be completed by Contractor Granger in a short time, probably next week. As soon as the bridges are in position that branch of the road will be ready to operate.

—Porter & Hannum finished plastering the Braytonville school house Wednesday. The finish is arriving and the finishers will be set to work at once. The building will be completed by January 1. The Johnson school of house is being painted and the orders are in position. This building will be finished in a few days.

PERSONAL PARADE.
